

Abstract of the Disclosure:

The invention relates to an apparatus and a method for ascertaining and correcting the optimum sampling time for an oversampled input bit stream. This involves feeding the data 5 bit blanked with the current sampling phase into the comparative sequence and using the data bit to ascertain a new, corrected sampling phase. This decision-based approach enables the sampling phase to be continuously corrected.

10

MPW/nt